THE EDITOR'S CHAIR.

HOW THINGS LOOK FROM OUR STAND POINT.

The Opinion of The Causasian and the Opinion of others which we Can Endorse on the Various Topics of the Day.

The hearing of the Cross and White case before the Supreme court has again been postponed, and will probably not come up before October.

The Charlotte Chronicle is showing considerable enterprise, and its advertising columns show that it is published in a live town—one that promises to be the city of the State.

U. S. Senator Chase of Rhode Island has resigned his seat because he has learned that his election was effected by bribery of votes. If Lot were now living he could find one honest man in the Sodom of republican politics.

I wish that there might come an old-fashioned revival of religion, that it might break out in Congress and in the Legislatures and bring many of the leading Republicans and Democrats down on the anxious seat of repentance.—Dr. Talmage.

English politics is a little interesting just now. It looks as if the Liberal party, lead by Gladstone, Morley and Parnell, has about cornered the Tory government, and that Salisbury will have to resign. We would be glad to see the "grand old man" again at the head of the government

The President has nominated Wm. W. Thomas, Jr., of Maine, Minister to Norway and Sweden; Samuel R. Thayer, of Minnesota, Minister to Netherlands; Chas. E. Mitchell, of Connecticut, Commissioner of Patents; and John W. Mason, of West Virginia, Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

The Durham Plant asks the following question: "Why not change the commencement of the Presidential term to April 30th—the day on which the term of our first President began?" THE CAUCASIAN will answer the Plant by asking why the 4th of March was set apart as that day?

In the death of Capt. F. W. Dawson of the Charleston News and Courier, who was brutally murdered by a Dr. McDow last week, South Carolina loses one of her best and most influential citizens, the Democratic party one of its ablest workers and defenders and the Editorial fraternity one of its most valued members.

Mr. George W. Williams, of Wilmington, has been elected a director of the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railroad to succeed Col. Eugene Morehead, who died suddenly in Savannah, Ga., a short time ago. Mr. Williams is an excellent man for the place, being one of the best and most successful business men in the State.

The West Virginia Legislature has adjourned without counting the Gubnertorial vote and deciding the contested election case, Goff and Fleming, the candidates of the respective parties for Governor. After the Legislature adjourned, Carr, the President of the Senate aspired to be Governor, but the State Supreme Court has declared that Gov. Wilson, the incumbent, will hold over, which will probably be till the next Legislature meets. This is an unfortunate affair and a very bad precedent.

LATER.—Gov. Wilson has done the square thing by calling an extra session of the Legislature of West Virginia to settle the matter.

SPEAKS ELOQUENTLY FOR CHARLOTTE.

Several months ago, the Wilmington Messenger, one of the most progressive and one of the most deserving papers in North Carolina, said, in effect, that it was idle for newspapers in this or any other state, to be bragging of the enterprise of the people where the paper is published, while the paper's columns are almost empty of advertisements.

There was philosophy and biting truth in the Messenger's remark. The advertising columns of a newspaper are the true and accepted index of the pluck, push and enterprise of the people of the town where the paper is published. Unless the business of a city is mirrored in its advertising columns, the glowing words in the local or editorial columns about the "great boom" the town is on will be accepted by the general public, by the people at home as well as by the people away, as the whistling of a scared boy passing a graveyard.

How eloquently the advertisements in to-day's Chronicle speak of the business and the enterprise of Charlotte! Would a column editorial in the most exuberantly boastful language tell near so well of the business enterprise of Charlotte, as do the advertising columns of to-day's Chronicle? By no means; because without the advertisements, the boasts would be foolish, and with them, they would be idle, for the advertisements alone tell the story.—Charlotte Chronicle.

The Chronicle is showing enterprise and industry in behalf of the interest of Charlotte, and the business men have shown their appreciation by doubling their advertising spaces and those who have not before advertised are falling into rank.

THE CAUCASIAN has no cause to grumble of the support given and appreciation shown by the majority of the business men here for its efforts, but there are a few who as yet have done little or nothing in this direction. We are glad to see other places prosper, but that Clinton and this section should prosper is of vital importance to us. THE CAUCASIAN is doing all that it can to accomplish this end. If you appreciate its efforts and endorse its course then we have a right to expect your support. Our paper should be a complete directory of the business of this place and such we hope to see it.

ENTERPRISING NEW BERNE.

The business men of New Berne held a meeting last Thursday with a view to starting new manufacturing enterprises. "M. Quad," (C. B. Lewis) of the Detroit Free Press, attended. The New Berne Journal says:

"Mayor Meadows asked Mr. Lewis to suggest some plan of inducing capitalists to start some enterprise in our city. Mr. Lewis in response stated that he learned in Wilmington that they had just secured an act of the General Assembly authorizing the city to remit certain taxes on new manufacturing establishments for ten years. This, he said would be an inducement to any manufacturing company contemplating a move to investigate Wilmington as a favorable location. He cited instances where towns had accumulated funds by weekly contributions from all the inhabitants for the purpose of either taking stock in a factory, to buy a site, or to give as a bonus. After some discussion as to whether a contribution of that sort should be raised for the purpose of purchasing a site for a furniture factory of any kind, it was decided not to confine the contribution to any particular factory, and for this purpose Mayor Meadows announced that he would head the list with fifty dollars."

A number of others voluntarily subscribed to a fund for such a purpose or offered to give sites for the proposed factories.

"Now," said Mr. Lewis, "you have done a great deal in five minutes, and if you want to make things hustle raise a thousand dollars to give as a bonus to the first one who will accept one of those sites and build a factory."

If Clinton would only raise this amount, we could have the much needed canning factory of our own without giving it away to get some one else to start it.

POINTS FOR TRUCKERS.

THE MEN WHO HANDLE OUR TRUCK, AND WHAT THEY SAY ABOUT OUR SHIPMENTS.

The Condition of Package as Important as Quality of Goods.

(Editorial Correspondence.)

NEW YORK, Feb., 1889.

As our readers are in a great truck growing section, we have found time to visit the men who handle the larger portion of North Carolina shipments and gather what information relative to the business we could for THE CAUCASIAN.

When truck is shipped it is consigned to a receiver. The middle man, or dealer in produce, comes on the dock in the morning and buys from the receiver the different kinds of fruits and vegetables, which he, the dealer, thinks he will find most saleable for the day. This dealer has a stall in the market. He takes his purchases to his stall and there displays them. During the day the grocer comes to the market and buys from the dealer what he (the grocer) thinks he will find a market for in his store for the day. Now, with this class of men, time is important. So when the grocer goes to the market he purchases from the dealer who keeps the largest and best assortment, otherwise he would have to visit several stalls to select his stock for the day. In the same way when the dealer goes out in the morning to buy his supplies for the day, he looks for the receiver who handles the largest assortment and quantity of produce, so that he may readily make his entire purchase from one man, and it is not until the shipments to the large receivers are exhausted that the small receiver has a chance to sell his shipments. Therefore produce in the hands of the large receiver, though probably inferior in quality, almost invariably sells sooner and for a better price than produce, though probably of good quality, in the hands of a small receiver.

All this has been said to show you that the all important thing to secure prompt and satisfactory returns is to select the proper receiver to whom to ship. It will not do to ship to every man who sends you a stencil, as some of our Sampson truckers have learned in their dear and unpleasant experience with one Ackerman. By the way, we have just been around to see the shanty in which he held forth. Few people here know anything of him, and those who did, know nothing to his credit. Now there are a number of just such parties here as Akerman, who are constantly sending out stencils, offering big returns for shipments, but we hope our people will not again be caught in any such trap. Every trucker should ascertain whether or not the parties to whom he intends shipping has character and commercial standing, and our truckers should, in addition, have an eye to those who handle large quantities of North Carolina truck, because the dealers have learned to go to such receivers for the kind of truck we ship. We will mention a half a dozen of probably the best of such receivers, namely: Hines & Mansfield, Vogel & Brautigan, S. H. & E. H. Frost, J. H. Bahvenburg & Bros, W. J. & S. H. Davenport, G. S. Palmer, and G. Furman & Co. We would advise our North Carolina truckers to to ship to one of these houses.

There is no such thing as overstocking the market of this place. A small receiver may easily be overstocked, because he has only a limited number of small dealers to buy from him. But the firms we have mentioned can always dispose of your shipments to them, if it is in a marketable condition, for they have the largest dealers for their regular customers.

OUR AGE AND OURSELVES.

[Contributed.]

The epoch of every generation, in every period, is its present age. It is the "golden mean" that links the extremes of time,—the summit from which we survey the past and the only foundation on which we have a right to base the fabric of our future dreams. The repiner who is sighing for some happy age, that is no more, is as far behind the present age, as is the age for which he sighs, and so far as we can see, would be better in his shroud than in existence. He who whiles away the passing moments, to await the "good time coming" must at last awake to the gloomy reality that "all was a dream."

While he who would seek the philosophy of life in those who have swept the arena before him and apply it to the age in which he lives, is guided on his way by "the lights that never grow dim."

Thus we make the broad assertion. We are standing face to face with an age that is doubly important, for it will go into history as our age of activity—of material and scientific development. Then it is our age. But where? inquire the malcontent, and the man of thought alike. Yet with different minds and notions, where are the evidences of our prosperity? Let Agriculture and Manufacturing and Science and Metaphysics, and Statesmanship and Monuments from which plays the electric spark of the spirit of the age, proclaim the truth.

August 31st, 1886, in Paris, was celebrated the one hundredth birth day of a chemist, who has witnessed "the entire development" of one of the greatest sciences known to men. Startling is the answer to the question. What has a quarter of a century done for this science? Yea, a revolution is pending thereon to-day. Chas Darwin the great apostle of the development theory, which is moving and stirring the world of thought, has been dead but ten years, his prominent successors are men of the age, and wonder; that long last prodigy, the "connecting link" between man and and the monkey has left his tracks where the acute observation of one of these scientists has made the discovery.

Let that noble race who pride themselves on their historic genealogy, rather than their common sense, erect to the hero of discovery a fitting monument, and place upon its top-most pinnacle a monkey of the first edition, for their long sought link in a now perfect genealogy. But whatever may be said of the theory of evolution, in its ranks are men of thought and activity; and those who would reconcile it to the interests of Christianity or overthrow it in defence thereof, must be men of thought. "Truth is mighty and will prevail," but the instrument that measures it must be a fitting one. Naught but the mental and spiritual activity of the men of truth could avert a repitition of the "Dark Ages." But the forces are gathering. The lands that are a stranger to all enlightened men, save the explorers, together with the cities that have been buried for centuries, are confirming the story of authentic history. In the interest of benighted humanity, the heralds of Christianity are increasing their ranks in Mexico, in Asia, in Africa, in the isles of the sea, even through out the world. This is an age of great political problems. The spirit of Anarchy that is troubling the waters to-day, is but a reaction of a gigantic oppression. It had not its birth in America, but America feels it. "No man liveth to himself," is a vital truth in Political Economy. We think it not presumptive to assert that he who amicably adjusts the situation in the political world, is greater than Alexander or Cæsar. Not only in the political arena is the combat carried on, but in all the pursuits of men, each striving with unrelenting power to fill his own coffers, regardless of the downfall of his neighbor "just across the street." When in reality the success of one is the success of the other. Men, nor the pursuits of men can no more live to themselves than continents, islands and seas.

One of the greatest geographical truths, written and read upon all lands and seas, is that no part of the globe is sufficient unto itself, that no tree or rock, continent or sea was ever finished, that everything has a fullness that something else needs, and wants that something else can supply. Without Asia and Europe, America would be a poor home; without Greenland, Cuba would lose splendor in the cor-

OUR FARMERS' COLUMN.

SOMETHING INTERESTING TO THOSE WHO TILL THE SOIL.

☞ So many agricultural papers are published and articles written by men, who have little or no practical experience as farmers, that information and suggestions through such mediums have fallen into disrepute, and does but little good. In view of this fact, we wish to get the views and tested plans of practical farmers for this column each week. So farmers, send in an account of your success in any branch of Agriculture, for the benefit of the fraternity. ☜

FERTILIZERS CONTINUED.

We told you in last week's issue that we would this week give some points on how to supplement the barn yard manure. This can be done in several ways, first by the use of Lime.

If you take a plant and burn it and analyze the ashes you will find that it is composed of nine substances, one of which is lime. So when lime is not present in the soil in sufficient abundance to meet the demands of the plants, it should be added. Lime can be of special value in two ways, which should be thoroughly understood by every farmer. It is the best thing known to take the "sourness" out of land. Have you any land that is water sobbed and sour? Then broadcast a little lime on the surface of it in the Spring and you can make a good corn crop on it the same year. There is only one other way to make such land produce and that is by ditching and letting it stand for a year or two. The lime does immediately what time would have to accomplish. Another use is in decomposing vegetable matter and getting it in a condition to be used by the plants. You all know that if you wrap lime in a cloth that it will soon eat up the cloth. Tanners use lime to eat the hair off of hides. Just in the same way lime eats up the rough vegetable matter in manure, or in the soil, and prepares it for plant food.

But be careful not to put lime on light sandy land, which is thoroughly dry and contains little or no vegetable matter, for in such a case it will supply no want, but inflict an injury. Like the best of medicines, it is dangerous when improperly used. Again it is dangerous to use lime or wood ashes in a compost heap unless the manure is very rough, and then there should be layers of ditch bank or swamp muck put along in the heap to catch and hold the gasses formed by the action of the lime, otherwise these gasses, which are very valuable, would escape in the air and leave the manure poorer. In short, lime and wood ashes are fine manures, but must be used carefully.

Salt.

The important office of salt is to make soluble the manure put out and substances already in the soil, for all manure must be in a liquid form before it can do the plant any good. In this way salt is valuable to keep the soil moist in case of dry weather. But salt, too, must be used carefully. If you put too much it injures the vegetation; it will not do to put it out loose, for in this shape it is too strong, it will not usually do to put it on light sandy land, for there is nothing there for it to work on. As a general rule it will do to put salt where there is humus in the soil. Refuse salt, which has been used to pack meat, is better than clean salt and does not cost near so much.

Another cheap and important fertilizer is

Green Manure, Etc.

So far we have pointed out how to improve all kinds of soil but the upland, light sandy soil, of which we have an abundance in this county. On such land put all the vegetable matter and swamp muck (which is vegetable matter partly decayed) you can; or rotate crops, turning under a pea crop and then planting wheat, turning under the stubbles, and then peas again, etc. The idea is not only to increase its fertility but to get enough vegetable matter in it so that it will hold moisture.

Now, in conclusion, allow me to urge upon you to think of all these things and see if you can't, by using your own brains, time, and valuable fertilizer materials, (which waste around you) be able to save this enormous expense of buying chemical fertilizers. Farmers have marveled to see the large results from application of a few hundred hundred pounds per acre of these fertilizers, and in some quarters these results have led to an undervaluation of the home-made manures. The fact that the concentrated fertilizer, being deposited generally with the seed, is more immediately available, does not demonstrate its superiority except for the single crop to which it is applied. The farmer who owns the land he tills, as most of our farmers do, is interested not only in immediate profits, but in maintaining, if not increasing, the fertility of his soil.

Guano acts simply as a stimulant, and if used alone will soon stimulate land to death. Let us put something on our land that will give it a body and permanently improve it.

THE NEW VICE PRESIDENT.

He Bought the Vice Presidency for a play thing, but it proves an elephant on his hands.

The Washington correspondent of the New York World in speaking of the new President of the Senate has the following to say:—

The man who, as the World has pointed out, bought the Vice Presidency as he would purchase anything else that pleased him—a town or country house, a fast yacht, a fine picture, a famous horse—does not find in his new acquisition the supreme pleasure he supposed it would afford him. He has discovered, in fact, that the Vice Presidency is a good deal of a master and that it cannot be taken up and laid down as a bauble for his amusement. A house he could shut up and a yacht he could tie at the dock. He could sky a picture or turn it to the wall, and a horse he could send to the auction stand, but the Vice Presidency is an entirely different thing. When he set out to buy it he looked on the office merely as a ribbon to tie on his coat, and he willingly gave his bags of silver for it, because it was the only thing of the kind in the market. He held the "option" and he took it.

An experience of less than a week has convinced him that the Vice Presidency of the United States cannot be purchased and worn as a decoration, even by a man who boasts the ownership of ten millions of dollars. He sits uneasily and uncomfortably in the chair of John Adams and Thomas Jefferson. The hand that for half a generation has been trimming coupons with a pair of scissors trembles when it grasps the gavel of the most powerful legislative body in the world. He is lost in the mazes of the rules. The formulas of finance and a money making bank he can roll off glibly, but his tongue halts and stammers when called on to pronounce the most trite forms of legislative proceedings. Grave Senators, like Edmunds, of Vermont, show their amusement openly over blunders of Mr. Morton, while the little pages stuff their handkerchiefs into their mouths to prevent juvenile explosions of laughter. It is fortunate for the purchaser of the Vice Presidency that the first sessions of the Senate since he took his seat are held with closed doors. Were they open, an hour in the galleries would be almost as amusing as at a negro minstrel show.

Never before, we learn, has Asheville been so full of visitors at this time of the year. Nearly every State of the Union, Canada and some other foreign nations are represented.—Durham Plant.

BEST LEGISLATURE SINCE THE WAR,

Save two sins of Omission.

[State Chronicle.]

* * * * *

It is our deliberate conviction, based upon some knowledge of previous Legislatures and the character of the legislation enacted, that if the body that adjourned had passed a Railroad Commission bill it would have been—and deservedly—the best and most popular General Assembly that has met in Raleigh since the war. Aside from the failure to pass the Railroad Commission bill and to establish the Teachers' Training School, where were they derelict in an intelligent exercise of the duties imposed upon them? The amount of the work was truly wonderful. In the Senate 1217 bills were introduced and considered, and in the House 1551.

* * * * *

The Legislature that adjourned Monday was no more of a "Farmer's Legislature" than others. There were more lawyers in the Legislature of 1889 than of 1885. That intelligent farmers make good legislators has been abundantly proved by the legislative career of Speaker Leazar, Mr. Holman, Mr. W. E. Stevens, Mr. M. C. S. Cherry, Mr. D. C. Regan, Mr. Willis R. Williams, Mr. Pierce Hampton, all of whom are farmers and were members of the last two Legislatures.

* * * * *

The farmers had the power to pass any law they pleased—to elect any officer they desired—and to control legislation in any channel that suited them. It is but proper and just to say of them that in no single instance did they allow any class feeling to dominate them. They divided upon all questions as did lawyers and others. This was notable in the Senatorial election and in the vote on the Railroad Commission. United they could have elected Capt. Alexander, and passed the Commission bill. They divided on both. There is no foundation in the statement that they antagonized men of other professions or callings.

* * * * *

No more important measure was inaugurated during the session than the provision in the Revenue Bill to tax the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, and to take measures to tax, if possible, certain other roads now claiming exemption under their charters. The tax on the R. & G. R. R., was placed at 25 cents—and to be paid since 1867 when the road, under its charter became liable. We shall again refer to the work of the Committee appointed to look into the charters of the other roads and try to make them pay tax. This is an important work, and a good committee, consisting of Senators Aycock and Kerr, and Representatives Carter, Sutton and Holman appointed.

This is a beginning of other movements, that will put railroads under the control of the State, and make them pay their proportion of taxation.

BUILD FACTORIES.

Factories! Factories!! Factories!!! Let's have them. They will pay the investors. They will afford work for our people. They will add to our self-sustaining population. They will fill our homes and create a demand for more. They will help the trade of our merchants. They will make the wheels of progress hum. They will give Durham a rockbottom boom. Yes, let's have them—Durham Recorder.

Clinton has one, The Carolina Veneer Works of which we are proud, of which North Carolina should be proud, of which the whole South should be proud for it is the only enterprise of the kind south of Richmond. But we need more and first and above all others, canning factory.

ADVERTISING PAYS.

There are some people who pretend to believe that advertising does not pay. To this class the Elizabeth City News says:

"If merchants think advertisements are not read by the people, just let them advertise to give away something and see how soon their stock is exhausted. Advertisements are always read by the people, for these hard times they are always on the lookout for bargains and when one is offered they are not slow to take advantage of it."—Concord Times.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS ARE SAYING

Create Business.

Is business dull? Then now is the time to advertise and create business.—Wilson Advance.

Hannibal and The Commission.

Hannibal lingered too long at Capua, and the Railroad Commission bill failed to pass.—State Chronicle.

The Meanest Man.

One of the meanest men in the world is the one who will change his residence and say nothing to the editor about changing his post office, though he may owe several dollars on his paper.—Eastern Reflector.

Executive Names.

What's in an executive name? exclaims the New York Graphic. The Governor of Illinois is a Fifer; of California, a Waterman; of Arkansas, an Eagle; of Colorado, a Cooper, and New Jersey has a Green executive. A Fowle cackles over North Carolina, and a Beaver works for Pennsylvania.—State Chronicle.

Appreciated Appreciation.

If every reader of the Plant was a subscriber, how our bank account would grow. Did it ever occur to you that a paper can't run entirely upon appreciation? Walk up and subscribe. That would be tangible appreciation, appreciated appreciation, and it would make the pot bile. —Durham Plant.

An Outlaw's Pipe.

The museum of the Arlington-Gregory Hotels is still on a boom Its supply of curiosities has now reached such proportions that hours can be spent with interest in studying them. The latest is perhaps its most attractive feature. It is the veritable pipe of the late notorious halfbreed outlaw of Robeson county, Henry Berry Lowry.—Goldsboro Argus.

Ready To Build.

The people of Dunn are in a high state of delight in regard to the removal of the court house of Harnett there from Lillington. The matter is first to be settled by popular vote, and even then the change is not to be made until the people of Dunn have by private subscription built a suitable courthouse and jail. They are ready to build. It is a great event in the history of Harnett.—Raleigh Cor. Wil. Messenger.

A Merited Compliment.

The many compliments paid Lt. Gov. Holt during the last moments of the Senate session yesterday were a deserved tribute to the fidelity, impartiality and ability of that officer. Never has the state had a son occupying the position he does more earnestly devoted to every welfare or more anxious modestly to discharge every duty devolving on the Lt. Governor with credit to North Carolina. We have no more disinterestedly zealous public servant than Col. Holt.—News & Observer.

STATE TRUCKER'S ASSOCIATION.

To Meet in Clinton April 4th and 5th—Other Places Preparing to Send Delegates.

The Advance takes pleasure in calling attention to the call for a Trucker's Association published in these columns. There is no good and sufficent reason why the farmers of this section of our State should not make money from truck farming, and organization will greatly facilitate this profitable industry. Why can't we have more truck farmers around Wilson? And the Advance would be glad to call a meeting of the truck farmers of Wilson county to take steps to co-operate with those who have made the call for an Association. Our columns are ever open to the interest of our toiling masses. What are you farmers going to do about it?—Wilson Advance.

The truck farmers of this vicinity held a preliminary meeting in this city yesterday looking to permanent organization. A committee, was appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws, and the meeting adjourned to convene again next Wednesday.—Goldsboro Argus.

To say that the Governor and his party were delighted at his gracious and kindly hospitality of Wilmington would but feebly express their feelings. It is quite certain that no more elegant entertainment was ever given a Governor in all North Carolina. The vistors all arrived here Saturday just after 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The courtesy of Mr. Harry Walters in furnishing a private car was greatly appreciated.—Raleigh Cor. Wil. Messenger.

THE CAUCASIAN.

Entered according to Postal Laws at Clinton, N. C., as second class mail matter.

CLINTON, N. C., MAR. 21, 1889.

The President has nominated General Longstreet to succeed General Rosecrans as Register of the Treasury.

On the second Tuesday in May Harnett county will vote on the removal of the county seat from Lillington to Dunn.

That man who is honest merely because "honesty is the best policy" is already a moral bankrupt —Dr. Talmage.

Senators Kerr and Aycock and Representatives Carter, Sutton and Holman were appointed by the Legislature to investigate charters of certain railroads. We will look forward to their report with interest.

The Biblical Recorder comes to us a double sheet, though reduced. We can't say that we like the change. We think it and the Progressive Farmer should have let well-enough alone.

The United States and Germany will hold a conference over the Samoan affair at Berlin. President Harrison has appointed J. A. Kasson, of Iowa; William Walter Phelps, of New Jersey; and George H. Bates, of Delaware, to be the commissioners to represent the United States at the Conference.

Nine letters were received last week by the department of Immigration from capitalists in Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania and other Northern and Western States enquiring about lands, mineral property, &c. We learn from Mr. P. M. Wilson, of this department, that of all the settlers who come to North Carolina find their way either to the Piedmont or Western sections of our State. This is due partly to the fact that the negro is in the way in the Eastern counties.—Raleigh Cor. Durham Plant.

This is another evidence of the great love(?) the yankees have for the negro. In looking for Southern homes, they are particular to shun the sections where the colored man abounds. The negroes' best friends are the sons of their former masters, and they are beginning to find it out.

FOOT BALL.

[Spec. Cor. State Chronicle.]

Raleigh, N. C., March 9, 1889. Having witnessed the match game of foot ball, played in this city last week and yesterday between the Wake Forest and University teams and the Trinity and University teams respectively, I desire to say something concerning the game, even tho' Spanish bull fighting is brought to mind. In opposing what has been long esteemed one of the most popular of college sports, I am aware that I must combat the opinions of men, who are high authority in such matters, and whose judgment is entitled to the highest respect.

Nevertheless the impressions made upon me by the two contests above named—the only ones I ever saw or ever expect to see—is so strong that I am constrained to give expression to it. I object to foot ball because:

1st. It is behind our civilization. We are taught that this age is ahead of the days of the Olympic games and the gladiatorial contests of Greece and Rome, and prize fighting is everywhere under the ban of the law. Yet one is forcibly reminded of all these by foot ball.

2nd. It is cruel. The participants are subjected to severe physicial punishment.

3rd. It is dangerous. As witness the breaking of Mr. Bragaw's leg, the wrenching of Mr. Murphy, and the injury more or less of several other of the young men who took part in the game yesterday.

4th. It is demoralizing. It promotes betting and breeds dissipation. Let the faculties of the institutions represented here yesterday, stick a pin by this. I am in favor of athletic sports and physical culture, but no foot ball if you please for

D. B. NICHOLSON.

We clip the above to endorse it, we regard the game as a relict of barbarism.—ED.

Prosperity and Success.

The Clinton CAUCASIAN comes to us in a new dress printed on a new Campbell power press. It is now like a "white boy" sure enough, brother Butler, and we wish THE CAUCASIAN all the prosperity and success at the hands of the good people of Sampson.—Goldsboro Mercury.

The Secretaries of the sub-Alliance's will please bear in mind, that the list of delegates must accompany the report.

J. D. EZZELL, Sec't'y.

TO THE BRETHREN: This week we send out sample copies of THE CAUCASIAN with subscription blanks to the secretary of each Alliance in the county. THE CAUCASIAN is the official organ of our order, and yet there are now about 800 of the brethren who do not subscribe. We are joined together in this great, commendable, and, as I trust, successful organization for the sole purpose of bettering our condition. How can we accomplish this? First, by being better informed about all things that pertain to our interest, and second, by united effort—all pulling together to attain the same end. Now your county organ is the principal agency in accomplishing the first purpose. Through it you speak to the world whatever is necessary to be said and through it you secure the majority of your information from without. Then how can any good Alliance man get along without the organ—the mouthpiece of that in which he is most interested?

Every man, who expects to be an intelligent citizen, must take one or more newspapers, this all will admit; and his home paper should always be first. But with you there is a double reason for taking THE CAUCASIAN. It is your home paper, and it is the organ of our order.

We now have 1,400 subscribers, but need and must have at least 3,000 to make the paper what we wish to see it; and if our brethren in this county will raise us 500 of these necessary subscribers, we will ourselves raise the other 1,100 elsewhere. Will you not do it? We feel sure that you will. Hand over your subscription to the Secretary of your Alliance and he will forward it to us.

Fraternally, yours,

MARION BUTLER,
Pres't Sampson Co. F. Alliance.

Stop and Think.

A Northwest Alliance paper says:

"When our Alliance brethren in the South shall make up their minds to make their farms self-sustaining, it will do more to render them independent and prosperous than all the organizations that could be devised by the brain of man. This lies at the very foundation of the success of Alliance."

Now what does "self-sustaining" mean? The man, who pretends to farm, yet has to buy corn, fodder, hay, meat, flour, and molasses, certainly has not made his farm self-sustaining. These are our chief crops, and therefore should not only make enough of these for home consumption, but should by all means have a surplus to sell to those who are in other occupations. We can't afford to make cotton to purchase these necessaries with, for we do not sell cotton to the consumer but to a middle man, who must pay us a price small enough so that he and several other middle men can make a profit, and again when we buy the necessaries, which we should have made, we pay a profit. By this management we have to support out of our products not only ourselves but also two other classes of men—the buyer and the seller. This is enough to bankrupt anybody, and if farming was not a very remunerative business such proceedings would soon put us in the poor house. Show us one farmer who has succeeded by raising cotton with which to purchase supplies, and we will show you a hundred who have broken at it. On the other hand, show me a man who has for the last five years has had his barns well filled with corn and had his smoke house well supplied with meat and I will show you a man who is to-day out of debt and in good circumstances.

Self-sustaining means something else. The man who spends several months of each year in hauling and putting out chemical fertilizers, when he could have made better manure on his own barn-yard and compost heaps, has certainly failed to make his farm self-sustaining. We said above that cotton farmers were supporting out of their products, two classes of men besides themselves, but we should have said three classes, for the guano companies are getting as rich as railroads, and all out of your work. We do not intend to offer you any advice by the above remarks, but simply hope that it will cause you to stop and think.

TRUST ON TWINE.

An agent of the Dakota Farmers' Alliance in his quest after a supply of twine to be used for binding grain at the coming harvest has made the discovery that a Trust has secured control of substantially all of that commodity in the country. The output of all the Eastern factories is reported bought up, and the price is already materially increased. It is interesting to note that the tariff on flax twine is 40 per cent., and also high on other varieties. A good deal of home industry, it can be seen, will be fostered on the part of the farmers in earning the money to pay the increase in the price of what they bind their sheaver with. This is a fine illustration of a Trust built up under the wall of a protective duty.—N. Y. World.

State Truckers' Association.

To Meet in Clinton Thursday and Friday, April 4th and 5th.

TO THE TRUCKERS OF NORTH CAROLINA—GREETING:

Every point from which we have heard save one exception favor Clinton as the place of meeting. Therefore we take pleasure in announcing that the State Truckers' Association will meet at this place on the 4th and 5th of April, (Thursday and Friday) 1889. Those elected as delegates from the various associations, and others who are interested in trucking and desire to attend, will please notify the undersigned as soon as possible so that we may provide for the accommodation of all while attending the convention in our town. The Atlantic Coast Line has agreed to pass all parties attending the convention at half rates and we hope to secure the same terms from the other lines.

Assuring you that we will do all in our power to make your stay pleasant, and hoping that the convention will result in much good to the Trucking interest, I am

Very Respectfully,

Experiment Station No. 61.---Compost and Compost Formulas.

N. C. Experiment Station,
March, 9th 1889.

This Bulletin mailed in February is on the subject of composts, and the value of stable manure, and materials which ordinarily go to waste on many farms which might and ought to be utilized in fertilizers. The value of stable manure, together with the best plan for its preservation, is especially referred to as it forms the basis of most composts.

Many formulas for various crops are given, so, as far as possible, to include the different home materials likely to be saved. Many methods for home-made composts and mixtures as carried out by practical farmers all over the State, are inserted together with chemical analyses of many of these mixtures.

While it may be too late now to compost for the present crop, yet its never too late to begin to save and utilize for the next corn the materials at home, opw possibly going to waste.

H. B. BATTLE, Director.

We are glad to publish the above for it is exactly on the line we have been writing.—ED.

FINGERS CAME OFF.

My little son, five years old, was afflicted with a disease for which the doctors had no name. The nails came off his fingers, and the fingers came off hands up to the middle joint. For three years he has suffered dreadfully, and has taken quantities of medicine. He is now getting well under treatment of Swift's Specific.

Remarkable Case.

For two years I had rheumatism so bad that it disabled me for work, and confined me to my bed for a whole year, during which time I could not even raise my hands to my head, and for three months could not raise myself in bed; was reduced in flesh from 192 to 86 lbs.; was treated by best physicians only to grow worse. Finally I took Swift's Pacific, and soon began to improve. After awhile was at my work, and for the past five months have been as well as I ever was—all from the effect of Swift's Specific.

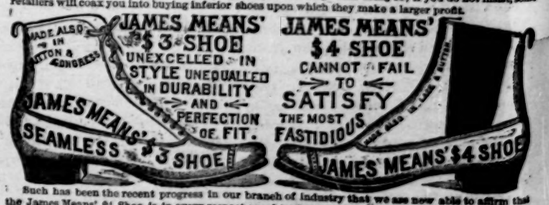
JAMES MEANS' $3 & $4 SHOES

"Competition is the Life of Trade," and if you have not seen our latest improved goods you cannot imagine how lively trade is, or how hard our competitors have to work to keep within sight of us. Ask your retailer for the James Means' $3 Shoe, or the James Means' $4 Shoe according to your needs.

Positively none genuine unless having our name and price stamped plainly on the soles. Your retailer will supply you with shoes so stamped if you insist upon his doing so; if you do not insist, some retailers will coax you into buying inferior shoes upon which they make a larger profit.



MADE ALSO IN CANTON A CONGRESS
JAMES MEANS' $3 SHOE UNEXCELLED IN STYLE UNEQUALLED IN DURABILITY AND PERFECTION OF FIT.
JAMES MEANS' $4 SHOE CANNOT FAIL TO SATISFY THE MOST FASTIDIOUS
JAMES MEANS' SEAMLESS $3 SHOE
JAMES MEANS' $4 SHOE

Such has been the recent progress in our branch of industry that we are now able to affirm that the James Means' $4 Shoe is in every respect equal to the shoes which only a few years ago were retailed at eight or ten dollars. If you will try on a pair you will be convinced that we do not exaggerate. Ours are the original $3 and $4 Shoes, and those who imitate our system of business are unable to compete with us in quality of factory products. In our lines we are the largest manufacturers in the United States.

Shoes from our celebrated factory are sold by wide-awake retailers in all parts of the country. We will place them easily within your reach in any State or Territory if you will invest one cent in a postal card and write to us.

LOCALS.

—Mr. W. H. Stetson has moved his harness establishment into his new quarters on Fayetteville street opposite to THE CAUCASIAN office.

—We take pleasure in announcing that Ex. Sheriff J. A. Oates will receive subscriptions for THE CAUCASIAN in Duplin, Sampson and Onslow counties.

—Mr. J. W. Hunter has shown us a radish nearly large enough for shipping, which was grown on his truck farm near Warsaw. He will be ready to make his first shipment in course of a week.

—Our subscribers and brother knights of the quill continue to compliment the improved appearance of THE CAUCASIAN. But the paper is not yet what we wish to make it. Give us 3,000 subscribers and we will run our new press by steam and make further emprovements.

—Rev. Mr. Meeks preached at the Baptist church in this place last Sabbath both in the moring and at night. His sermons were able and instructive expositions of the scriptures and were listened to by unusually large congregations. We are glad to learn that Mr. Meeks has accepted a call as pastor of this church for the following year and will have services twice month instead of once as heretofore.

—The following subjects will be discussed at the meeting of the State Truckers Association which meets in Clinton on April the 4th and 5th, The Cultivation and Marketing of Strawberries, of Grapes, of Asparagus, of Peas, of Beans, of Potatoes, of Huckleberries and of Apples, Peaches, etc. Freight, Shipping, packages and Commission will also be considered. The delegates from the various associations are requested to post themselves with all the possible information relative to the same.

—A great many of our subscribers have responded promptly to our call in last week's paper for a settlement. It is no small encouragement to an editor for his readers to show their appreciation for his work in this way. There are some however who have not yet called, which we suppose is due to the fact that they are not prepared or live at too great a distance to conveniently settle unless business should bring them to town. Bnt allow us to urge upon you that we need the money as soon as we can possibly get it, as you all must know.

—Our paragraphs in last week's paper about the need for a machine shop here and additional and better car on the line from here to Warsaw were badly murdered in the printer's hands. What we intended to say was that there was enough machinery in this county constantly in need of repair to make a machine shop pay. And then too it would be a wonderful convenience to the people of the county, for now when any piece of machinery gets broken or worn it must be sent to Goldsboro or Wilmington and the transportation costs more than the repairing. Second, a first class railroad car we do need, a car separate from the second class car. At present we have one car with a partition in the middle, which is little protection to ladies from tobacco smoke and other things that might be offensive. Then too accommodation to a town represents the Railroad company's estimation of the place and as such it makes a bad impression on parties visiting our pretty little town for the first time.

—It is now spring and yet there es more building going on here now than ever before in the history of Clinton. A few days since we wished some work done in the CAUCASIAN office, but we had great difficulty to get a mechanic for theywere all busy. We found some at work on Mr. F. T. Atkins' handsome residance, some enlarging and repairing the Sam Hobbs residence, some constructing additonal buildings for the Carolina Veneer Works, some pulling down the old shops in front of our office and building a new store for Mr. Warren Johnson near the same sight, some working on the residence of Mr. Ed. Butler, some getting ready to enlarge the Presbyterian church, ane others scattered all around doing general repairs and building new fences and pailings. Before this is finished, work on the handsome new brick store of Mr. J. E. Royal, the addition to the Murphy House and the construction of the Methodist church in this place, will commence. What does all this mean? It shows that Clinton is a live town with live people in it. Now will some of this enterprise and spirit not concentrate and start a canning factory?

—The State meeting of the Y. M C. A. convenes in Wilmington to day. Messrs. T. C. Pope and Duncan Partrick are delegates from this place.

—For the next thirty days Clinton will be rather on the go. During that time the following gatherings or meetings will be held here:

The State Truckers' Association, April 4th and 5th; the quarterly meeting of the Sampson county Farmers' Alliance, April 5th; the Presbytery of the Wilmington District, April 10th to 14th; and the reunion of survivors of Capt. James H. Robinson's command of Company A, 61st Regiment, Clingman's Brigade, Hoke's Divsion, April 19th.

—Last January we wrote up the progress of Clinton, which made such a fine showing for our town that many of our readers thought the article an exaggeration. But when they come and look around they are astonished and frankly tell us that we scarcely did the town justice. Yes, Clinton is growing rapidly, but neither it nor any other inland town can ever be a great, thriving business centre without manufacturing establishments. A half a dozen such enterprises as the Carolina Veneer Works would, in two years, double our population, double the value of real estate and put into circulation double the money now in the county. Why do we hesitate to start more such enterprises? Will we ever grow wiser or richer by inaction and fear of venture.

State Board of Agriculture.

The Concord times says:

A new State Board of Agriculture was elected by the Senate on Friday last, as follows: Dr. W. R. Capehart, of Bertie; Dr. Mott Moore, of Duplin; Hon. J. F. Payne, of Robeson; Hon. A. Leazer, of Iredell; Hon. C. D. Smith, of Macon.

We suppose our brother of the Times got his information from the slate and not from the journal of the General Assembly. Rep. W. E. Stevens of Sampson is the member of the Board for the 3rd Congressional District instead of Dr. Moore, of Duplin.

An Honor to Town and County.

The Clinton CAUCASIAN is out in a new dress and printed on a bran new Campbell cylinder press. Its typographical appearance is now all that could be desired, and as the paper is well and carefully edited, it is an honor to the town of Clinton and Sampson county, whose people shoule give it a hearty support.—Concord Times.

Much Improved.

The Clinton CAUCASIAN is out in a new dress and is otherwise much improved. This puts us in mind to say that the people of Clinton and Sampson county ought to show substantial appreciation of the progressive spirit of MR. Mr. Editor, will you please call the attention of the Wadesboro paper, in your next issue, to the silk worm business? There was something said about it a few papers back. This country suits the mulberry admirably, and cocoons might be raised here in large quantities, giving employment to numbers of women and children. You are booming Clinton and the county to some purpose, another paying industry wouldn't hurt,

Would like the Wadesboro paper to give all necessary particulars so that we might make the right start.

HONEYCUTTS.

Rebecca Caroline, the infant child of Mr. A. M. Butler, died last Tuesday week.

TAYLOR'S BRIDGE.

Married, on Saturday 16th at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. R. James, Miss Bettie E. James to Mr. G. C. Highsmith, Rev. D. B. Clayton officiating. This couple enters into the newly made life, under very prosperous and favorable circumstances, and we predict for them, as they have launched on that sometime rugged sea, that they will sail clear of all such obstacles, and be favored with the current of joy and happiness. The Bridemaids and Bridemen attended in the following order, Mr. Luvie James with Miss N——s Highsmith, Mr. Willie Wright with Miss Mattie James, Mr. W. L. Matthews with Miss Cattie Murphy, Mr. H. R. Murphy with Miss Annie McArthur, Mr. T. T. James with Miss Fannie McArthur.

Died: Thursday night, March 14th Mr. Claude Smith, son of Mr. E. C. Smith. He left home for Wilmington about the first of January, but returned in a few days with typhoid fever and has been confined to his bed till last Thursday night when death made a portal to his eternal rest. Mr. Smith was a young man about 22 years of age, and was liked by all who knew him. He lived one of those moral and exemplary lives, that marks the active christian. The community loses a generous and useful citizen. The family a kind and affectionate orother and son.

We condole with the bereaved family, and commend to them the blessed consolation that,

There is a time for all to die,
When to the angels we well vie,
So let's console ourselves on earth,
That we will have a higher birth.

DISMAL.

Farmers in this section are busy with their work, notwithstanding the recent rains.

Miss Lillie Williams who has been visiting relatives in this community returned Saturday to her home near Newton Grove.

Married: at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Raeford Autry, Mr. H. I. Hall to Miss Adaline Autry, C. H. Williams, J. P., officiating. SNUB.

I understand that the Alliance at Boykins has bought 22 or 23 tons of guano from a company in Raleigh.

Mr. R. O. Autry of this township is an aspirant for the office of Postmaster at Clinton. I am informed that he does not wish to do anything against Mr. Johnson, the present incumbent, but should Mr. Johnson be removed, he offers his service to the people of Clinton.

Mr. F. R. Cooper of the Clinton Bar is on a visit to his parents at the old homestead this week.

D. R. A.

There are several cases of pneumonia in this section, but all are improving.

Several of our farmers along the line of the W. & F. R. R. are making preparations to plant beans for market this season. We will let you know of our success in trucking.

The Farmers' Alliances in this part of the county and just over the line of our sister counties are very much disappointed in the failure of the Senate to pass the Railroad Commission Bill. Some have gone as far as to say that they can never again support those who worked so hard to defeat the bill knowing that it was the wish of their constituents for them to pass it. L.

LITTLE COHARIE.

Misses Laura Crumpler, of Ora, and Katie Williams, of Dismal, have been visitng Miss Lena Sessoms, of Owenville.

Miss Lillie Williams, of Newton Grove, has been visiting Misses Mollie and Bettie Fishor.

Hayne Academy has received two new pupils, Miss Mamie Mitchell of Bladen county and Mr. W. J. Fisher "Hamburg." Mr. Fisher is teaching penmanship. PLUG.

There is a person in Little Coharie township that made use of the remark "that he dit not want to go to heaven when he died if some of his neighbors went for 'heh' could not enjoy it." Now we think that the last Legislature should had prepared a place for all such people for it will be too ruff to have to camp out.

"Second to None in the State."

I must congratulate you on the great improvement on THE CAUCASIAN in its new dress. Sampson can now boast of a county paper second to none in the State, every man in the county that can spare $1.50 should subscribe for it at once, the article this week by editor on fertilizers alone is worth the price of the paper for one year, to any farmer that will heed the advice therein given.

Armory Sampson Light Infantry.

Clinton, N. C.
March, 30th 1880.

Owing to the meetings of the County Alliance and State Trucker's Association at Clinton on the first Friday in April, the regular monthly meetings and drill of the Sampson Light Infantry is ordered on Wednesday the 3d of April at the usual hour.

W. L. FAISON, Captain

Both Races Appreciate It.

Mr. Editor: Allow me to say a word about the great improvement of your paper. There are five papers taken at my house, but THE CAUCASIAN is always read first. I think you have plenty of dye now, and an excellent way of putting it on. I only regret that it doesn't come every day in the week and Sunday too. J. N. BENNETT, (Col'd.)

Reunion of Co. A, 61st Regiment, Clingman's Brigade, Hoke's Division, C. S. A.

Many of the survivors of Company A, 61st Regiment, N. C. Troops, C. S. A. Call for a reunion on the 19th day of April next, to meet in Clinton at 12 M., on that date.

Township Progress.

South Clinton.

Mr. Editor, I have been thinking of writing a piece for your township column for some time, but have neglected doing so. I know we haven't any "Twists," "Snaps," "Plugs," and Brown Jugs," but am glad to see we have a "Wood Hauler," who compares favorably with your other correspondents.

I will now try to describe our township. It contains nine fancy dry goods stores, two very fine and fashionable millinery departments, two clothing stores, three grocery and confectionery stores, two drug stores, and dentists' offices, one hotel and postoffice, and the printing office of THE CAUCASIAN, and also one of the most beautiful and tastefully arranged Opera Houses found in any of the larger cities of the State. South Clinton also contains the Clinton Loan Association, one Masonic Lodge, one Lodge of the Knights of Honor, four churches, three Farmers' Alliances, three public school houses, one depot, warehouse and telegraph office, one very large Crate and Basket factory which gives employment to a number of hands, two buggy factories, two livery and sale stables, one accommodation stable, four saw-mills, four grist mills, four cotton gins, and one very large and convenient county farm, where the unfortunate of our county are well provided for; and is is with the greatest pride and deepest gratitude to our Heavenly Father that I can boast to you that we haven't a single bar-room or liquor saloon in our township. There are 108 farms in the township. The farmers in this section are very busy preparing their farms for planting. We draw this statement from the constant raising of new feuces, the large number of new ditches which are being cut, the curling smoke which we see daily rising up from the fields, and also the number of plows which are daily turning over the soil. I notice too that the farmers are beginning to diversify their crops, instead of planting so much cotton, and giving large mortgages for fertilizers, they are going more into the trucking business, and also planting more wheat, rice, etc. All this goes to show that "there is life in the old land yet," and the people are still "booming," and that the farmers especially are going to do their part toward warding off the so-called hard times. PEDRO.

McDaniels.

E. J. Owen, new dwelling; David McLemore, new dwelling; James McDaniel has enlarged his dwelling; Wm. Green has added to his dwelling; George Highsmith has added to his dwelling; Stephen Carroll, a new dwelling; D. H. Melvin, a new dwelling; J. W. Simmons, a new dwelling; M. J. McDaniel, a new dwelling; Wm. Lockamy, a new rice mill and improved rice cleaner; Colored Methodists, new church; Colored Baptists, a new church; E. A. Crumpler, a new store; new public road from Concord church to Heyer's bridge on South River. General improvements in McDaniel's have not been very great in the past, but we are looking for a boom in the near future. The grading of the C. F. and Y. V. R. R. will soon be completed through the township, and the train will be running through in less than a year, and then we look for the boom which will surely come. The Trunk Line from Wilmington to Cincinnati will pass through this township.

January 17th, 1889.

Piney Grove.

Mr. G. W. Sutton has built a new gin run by steam.

Mr. S. R. Daughety and D. T. Sutton have greatly improved their dwellings in size and appearance.

Goshen Academy a large two story building, has been built. A flourishing school, with A. M. Barbrey as principal.

Mr. Blackman Hair has bought a piece of land and will build nice dwellings and out houses.

Mr. John Westbrook has built a neat dwelling near Popular Grove Church.

Mr. J. R. McPhail has enlarged his store to nearly double its former size—business enlarged.

New Baptist Church at Poplar Grove.

Piney Grove Church has been improved within.

There are now seven places of business where there were only three last year.

Mrs. Brown's dwelling has been much improved.

Mr. J. S. King has wonderfully improved the old homestead of E. M. Wilson, at which place he now lives. The dwelling will be a comfortable and attractive house of 8 rooms. All the out houses and the farm have been much improved.

Lisbon.

A few years ago there was one store at Ingold, now there are four stores here doing business. There is a good trade at this place.

Messrs. Herring & Peterson are building their new store in the place where the other was burned. They expect soon to have it finished.

There are in addition to the four storehouses, two good warehouses, two blacksmith and woodshops, one steam saw and grist mill and cotton gin, and turpentine distillery, owned by A. N. Johnson & Son, and one near there owned by Herring & Peterson. Both of these firms have their spirit barrels made at their shops.

Messers. J. W. and J. A. McKinzie have bought land and built residencies and live here, and are prepared to do blacksmith and wood work at short notice.

Mr. John Stallings, a good carpenter, has also bought and lives here.

Our esteemed friend, Dr. Henry Sloan, has also bought a lot and built a large house and now lives here and supplies the medical wants for a large territory surrounding Ingold.

Mr O. K. Vann has bought a lot and built a dwelling, and is employed all the while in making turpentine barrels.

Mr. William Powell has also purchased a lot and is building a nice little house in the village, and is employed in making spirit barrels for A. N. Johnson & Son.

Mr. D. L. Herring has enlarged his store and is doing a good trade.

Mr. I. W. Boykin is merchandising at Tredwell's Bridge.

Mr. S. S. Armstrong has built a splendid bridge across Coharie, near the old Tredwell bridge.

Lisbon Church has been furnished with a new stove and is to be repaired soon.

A few Baptist have nearly completed a nice church at Spring Vale. They expect soon to finish up the house. Several members from Ebenazer and Boykin's Chapel have united with them, and the church seems to be flourishing. The church has just been furnished with a stove.

There are many more items of interest, but I have not time to get them to you in time this week.

Yours, truly,
HUCKLEBERRY.

Several new houses by the Messrs. Vann.

Dwelling of J. A. Beaman enlarged and greatly improved.

POINTS FOR TRUCKERS.

We learnad by conversing with some of the above parties that the truck from our section is equal in quality to any, but we often fail to get as good prices on account of the boxes or packing. Beans, or anything else in a bright, clean, neat box always sell first, though the quality may net be so good as some others which are in a dirty, dingy box. The grocer does not want such a box in his store, knowiug well that the customer will always avoid such a box when making purchases. Again, we should always give good measure, for by falling to put in ten cents worth of beans we often lose twenty five cents on the box.

From what we learn here, we advise those shipping berrics to use the gift crate. There are now immense quantities of last year's crates (standard) here unsold and in the way, while no doubt many of the parties who shipped these crates here think they were sold and that they had received the money for them. The receiver who reported that he had not sold your crates probaly acted fairer with you than the one who reported that he had. In other words, some receivers fool you to satisfy you. Let us illustrate: You ship a crate of huckleberries, the consignee gets 11 cents per quart, he can't sell the crate, but he knows you will not be satisfied if he does not, so he makes out the bill:

32 Qts of berries @ 9 7-16c,	$3 02
1 Crate,	50
Total,	$3 52

While your berries alone brought $3.52. You are ready now to say that such a man is dishonest—that he stole your crate. But such may not the case. He may not desire to misrepresent the case, but he understands human nature and knows that you will not continue to ship to him unless he sells(?) your crate. He rents a store or warehouse and piles away these crates, hoping to sell them sometime, but the rent on the storeage room often cost as much as the crates bring. Here room is everything and these crates are quite a nuisance. So you see by this operation we lose the crate entirely and by using the gift crate we would not loose so much. In addition the fruit in a gift crate sells better. When a dealer buys fruit in a standard crate he has to deposit 50 cents with the receiver to insure the return of the crate. When the grocer buys from the dealer he must do the same thing. Then when the consumer comes to the grocer and wishes a quart of strawberries he can't get the basket but must pour them in a paper bag. All this is a consiperable nuisance, and therefore the grocer will pay more for berries in a gift crate than in a standard crate.

We learn that there is more demand for Irish Potatoes in June than for anything else we could ship.

Sweet Potatoes (Jersey Sweet) sell for $2.75 and $3.00 per barrel (three bushels.

Tomatoes are worth $3.00 a bushel in April.

So you see that there are a number of things we might ship to an advantage.

The shape of the bean box makes little difference, so that is full measure. Ventilation is some better in the octaginal box.

But we must stop as our article is already too long. M. B.

THE LABOR CONVENTION.

(Special Cor. Caucasian.)

FAISON, N. C., March 16, 1889.

MR. EDITOR: As your paper is the most popular in this section, will you allow me space to give a brief account of the colored Labor Convention which met here today".

We wish we could give the article in full [as the object of the meeting was a very commendable one] but it is too long for our columns.

A few of the cooler and wiser heads of the colored race have seen that many who are emigrating headlong to the Southwest will find when too late that they have made a mistake and that North Carolina is the best state in the Union—hence the meeting at Faison. The speech of J. S. Henderson was unusually good and quite eloquent. We hope that it will put his race to thinking.—Editor.

onet of tropic beauty. Arctic moss adds finish to the rose and lilly; and Alaska meets wants of the world that no other land can satisfy This great truth seems to be the native instinct of the human soul.

Then he who unites the vocations of men for the better condition of all, is equally as great as Cæsar.

But amid all the confusions of the age, the voice of sincerity is rising higher and higher still; the concordant voice of men and women is rising in the interest of humanity. This may seem fanciful, nevertheless it bears the ineffaceable stamp of truth. We have viewed the subject as broad as the world, but we are of America and of its sunny side. We are basking in the sunshine of an era of peace and plenty. The chasm of strife between the sections of our country is already bridged. The axe is laid at the root of the tree of bitter fruits. The spirit of our institutions of learning is a testimonial of this assertion. The spirit of the age in the New South is what most vitally concerns us.

The Southern interest at the numerous State and County Expositions has proclaimed to the world what we have and what we can do. But bright as our morning opens, and "high as our hopes beat," too many of our people are content to boast of our great possibilities and resources, and yet do nothing. Too many of our educated young men admit of our possibilities, proclaim from the house-top our shortcomings, then leave the country for better pay. Let those who see and feel the sting of our errors strive to apply the remedy, or when and how will it be done? It must be done through the influence of Southern universities and colleges. "It was largely through the Universities of Cambridge and Oxford that centuries ago three dialects were blended into one beautiful union, that authors wrote, that poets sung.

These institutions are the lights that have guided the wandering islander across the waters on his way to eternal greatness. So our institutions must unfold to us our own possibilities. The demands of the age are upon them, or they must be hidden in their own ruins. Young men of high aspirations, a question confronts you; will you meet the demands upon you and guide your own institutions in the coming years, or must others be called to the rescue? Must you fold your hands and lament our barrenness, while your own muse is sleeping amid the boughs of the evergreen that weeps because no poet sings its song! Within our own dominions talent and genius enough have been wasted in laments and sighs and mournful declarations, to have built a structure that would have been the wonder of the ages. Let him who knows our difficulties, our needs and our wants, contribute to their supply, or may his tongue be chained in silence. If you as a southern scholar feel our need of history and know the defects of our own, you had better write one than spend your life telling us what we don't have. As our needs and resources are great, our possibilities are correspondingly great. You long to revel in the proud temple of fame, has she no abiding place within our borders?

Do you long for a land where herds are more thriving and grass grows higher? Unless you strive to develope the resources of your own, the rankest grass would soon flourish about you and Eden's flowers would wither in your sight. Let us work to develope the resources of our country, and have cause to name with honest pride the land which gave us birth.

A True Tonic.

When you don't feel well and hardly know what ails you, give B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) a trial. It is a fine tonic.

T. O. Callahan, Charlotte, N. C., writes: "B. B. B. is a fine tonic, and has done me great good."

L. W, Thompson, Damascus, Ga., writes: "I believe B. B. B, is the best blood purifier made. It has greatly improved my general health.'

Ad old gentleman writes: "B. B. gives me new life and new strength. If there is anything that will make an old man young it is B. B. B."

P. A. Shepherd, Norfolk, Va., August 10th, 1888, writes: "I depend on B. B. B, for the preservation of my health. I have had it in my family now nearly two years, and in all that time have not had to have a doctor."

Thos. Paulk, Alapana, Ga., writes: "I suffered terribly from dyspepsia. The use of B. B. B. has made me feel like a new man. I would not take a thousand dollars for the good it has done me."

W. M. Bheshire, Atlanta, Georgia, writes: "I had a long spell of Typhoid Fever, which at last seemed to settle in my right leg, which swelled up enormously. An uncer also appeared which discharged a cup ful of matter a day. I then gave B. B. B. a trial and it cured me."

Do you not take an interest in the development and progress of Sampson county? THE CAUCASIAN is laboring for that very purpose.
